Marion P. Wertz, who was injured at the Union Station last Thursday, died at St. Mary's Hospital yesterday morning. Wertz was pushing a truck loaded with mail pouches across the tracks, when he was struck by a baggage car that was being switched into place by an engine.
Wertz was caught between the coach and the truck and suffered internal injuries. The police have notified Wertz's relatives in Kingston, Pa.

TRAINMEN AND EXPRESS STRIKERS.

Brakemen and Baggage-men Said to Be Assisting the Pacific Company.

TO TIE UP STATE OF TEXAS.

President Modie Says the Present Manner of Handling Freight Is Contrary to the Principles of Unionism.

"The Order of Railway Trainmen may be drawn into the strike of the Pacific Express Company," said President F. E. Modie of the Brotherhood of Railway Expressmen yesterday.
"It has been reported to me that some of the runs where the Pacific Express Company has contracted with the railway companies to handle baggage, brakemen and baggage-men have been ordered into service to handle the baggage of the railway companies.
"The baggage-men and brakemen are members of the Order of Railway Trainmen, and assisting the Pacific Express Company where it has a contract to handle baggage is working harm to the cause of the employees of the company who are demanding an increase in salary, and is contrary to the principles of unionism.
"The matter has been reported to President Morrissey of the Order of Railway Trainmen, and he is investigating it. If it is a fact, the practice will have to cease or the brakemen and baggage-men will be called out by President Morrissey. How much further it may extend is, of course, a matter of speculation.
"There is also a probability that the brotherhood men in the employ of the American Express Company in Texas may be ordered to strike. That company has been carrying some of the freight of the Pacific Company on a tonnage basis. This, of course, gives the Pacific its profit and the freight is not rebilled it. It is business that company, which brotherhood men cannot handle. If the freight is rebilled it becomes the business of the company rebilling it, and, of course, we have nothing to say regarding it.
"If this continues I shall be compelled to order the brotherhood men to strike the express companies that persist in the practice. An order to this effect would tie up the whole State of Texas, as the brotherhood of railway expressmen is strong and well organized in that State.
"Notice has been given the express companies not to handle any of the freight of the Pacific Express Company, except by rebilling it and making it the business of the company handling it."
A committee of the former employees of the Pacific Express Company will confer with the Business Men's League to-day, looking to a settlement of the strike. It is also possible that the Civic Federation will also consider the differences between the Pacific Company and its employees.

DOWIE USES TEPPER WHEN THOUSANDS LEAVE MEETING.

Appeals to Police to Lock the Doors, but Crowd Shuffles Out Unmindful of His Threats and Exhortations—Madison Square Garden Overflows With Multitude Curious to See and Hear "Elijah III" and His "Restoration Host," and Much Confusion Characterizes Meeting and Causes the "Prophet" to Utter a Tirade Against New York Audiences.

JOHN ALEXANDER DOWIE AND MRS. DOWIE. From their latest photograph.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—John Alexander Dowie preached to three audiences to-day, at which the combined attendance was nearly 2,000 persons.

Unable to control the going and coming of thousands who attended the meetings in Madison Square Garden, particularly in the afternoon, the "Prophet" lost his temper and uttered a tirade against New York audiences. His word being law with the members of his "Restoration Host," Elijah III could not comprehend that his command to an audience to be seated or that doors be locked to retain it should not be obeyed.
As a preacher Dowie was a disappointment, the range of his voice being limited and its tones harsh and metallic.
Descending to vituperation when his temper stepped out of its bounds, because of the vanishing of the crowd, he declared that the "Prophet" had been taught a lesson when there was a sudden exodus of 2,000 strangers from the afternoon exercises of the Restoration Host in Madison Square Garden.

It was the lesson many who had gone before have learned—that it is an easy matter to bring a crowd together in this metropolis, but a far more difficult problem to hold the assemblage together. Dowie stood agape when boxes and chairs were suddenly vacated and these reeling headed for the Madison avenue entrance.
COMMANDER POLICE.
TO LOCK THE DOORS.
Appeals to his deacons and members of uniformed Zion's guard to stem the outgoing tide availed nothing. His command to lock the doors and hold the people prisoners until he had finished his reading of the Scriptures, with few exceptions on each side, were unheeded. The police acknowledged they had no power to do as the rebeld figure ordered.
But the places of those with shuffling feet, afterwards characterized by Dowie as curiosity-seekers, who had probably expected to see a "great show," were filled rapidly by as many, who had been waiting to get into the garden.

It was this exodus and another later on that made the little band of men in the academic gown of a Bishop born an unflattering trade against New York audiences. Dowie, who had been waiting for a while, was suddenly checked with a whispered word of caution.
But Dowie was successful in that which he most hoped for when he first announced this visitation by his Restoration Host. Together with his workers, Dowie's restoration meeting, with few exceptions on each side, were unheeded. The police acknowledged they had no power to do as the rebeld figure ordered.

Boys Stone a Street Car.

Enraged at their ejection from a Broadway car for violating the rule against smoking, two boys gathered rocks and attempted to strike the conductor.

Mrs. Uriah Kay, a passenger, was severely injured by one of the stones, which broke a window and struck her on the head. Doctor George W. Heuman of No. 602 North Broadway attended Mrs. Kay, and she went to her home, No. 711 Bitter street.

Conductor Edward Brown says that the boys boarded the car at Adelaide avenue and began smoking inside. Brown remonstrated with them and then ordered them from the car at Broadway and Pope avenues. Brown declares that the boys gathered stones from the street and sent a volley of missiles at the car. They are described as about 15 years old and wore dark clothes.
